It's not often you find a well-maintained, one-owner home on more than an acre in Central that has never flooded. As a bonus, there's a separate workshop and a gameroom that could be used as a man cave or a she-shed. The private backyard features an accent pond and open patio areas, including a fire pit, perfect for relaxing and enjoying nature. Inside, you'll find an open floor plan, a kitchen with plenty of cabinets, leathered granite with a soft, almost velvet feel, a corner sink with windows overlooking the backyard, and a gourmet gas stove. This custom home offers large rooms and extra closet space, so there's room for everyone. One of the best features is the sunroom, which faces east so you can enjoy the shade in the evening. Make plans to see this wonderful home in the Central School District, with easy access to the Central Throughway for a quick commute.
