Situated on a large lot in a highly sought-after St. Francisville area, this property offers exceptional potential for renovation or redevelopment. The home features a metal roof, solid flooring throughout, and an open floor plan connecting the kitchen, dining, and keeping room creating a spacious layout ideal for modern living. With three large bedrooms, the footprint provides a strong foundation for a full restoration. The home is in poor overall condition and will require significant updates, making it an excellent opportunity for investors, contractors, or buyers looking for a project in a premium location. With vision and improvements, this property can be transformed into a standout residence in one of the region's most desirable markets.
